ELTO

We also have to obtain information for 'ELTO' (Employers Liability Tracing Office). This data is required by the FCA (Financial Conduct Authority); our regulator as well as our insurance companies and underwriters to make it easier for employees to gain access to the relevant insurers who provide Employers' Liability cover. Moreover, this process is designed to start to address the issues of historical cover by providing comprehensive lists of insurers who are liable or potentially liable for UK commercial lines Employer's Liability, including future claims in respect of historical policies, hence the reasoning for the collection of this data from employers.

How We Use Cookies

A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on to your computer's hard drive. Once you agree, the file is added and the cookie helps analyse web traffic. Cookies allow web applications to respond to you as an individual. The web application can tailor its operations to your needs, likes and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being used. This helps us analyse data about web page traffic and improve our website in order to tailor it to customer needs. We only use this information for statistical analysis purposes and then the data is removed from the system.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to monitor which pages you find useful and which you do not. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. This may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website.

Sanction Checking

We are required to carry out sanction checks on clients wishing to purchase insurance products. The UK financial sanctions regime lists individuals and entities that are subject to financial sanctions. HMT (Her Majesty's Treasury) is responsible for implementing, administering and enforcing compliance. Our failure to obtain and check information and data can result in serious consequences, so we as a company check against listings for individuals and entities that could be terrorists or other organisation involvements in financial crime.
